COOLIDGE WILL GET OPPOSITION FOR NOMINATION

Senator Moses Airs Views Regarding President's Chances

NOT FIRST BALLOT

Says Ford Likely to Accept Farmer Labor Nomination

Washington, Oct. 20.—President Coolidge can not expect to go into the Republican national convention next year unopposed for the nomination or with enough delegates instructed to insure his nomination on the first ballot.

This opinion was expressed here by Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire, avowed supporter of the president. Senator Moses has just returned from a tour of 10 states of the west.

If Mr. Ford accepts the nomination of the Farmer-Labor party, as now seems likely, he will create an unhappy situation in the Republican party, the senator said. Electoral votes Ford might obtain would be at the expense of the Republican nominee, he added.

Senator LaFollette will not join any third party movement, the senator said. The New York state delegation, he understands, will go to the convention instructed for Senator Wadsworth.

Former Governor Lowden of Illinois is said to be conducting a live campaign with a capable representative in Washington. The Illinois leader is seeking to persuade state leaders to stand against instructed delegations. In Indiana congressional divisions already have formed Hiram Johnson clubs, while the supporters of Senator Watson are to be reckoned with.

Sensor Moses has no doubt that Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania will be a candidate for the nomination. Senator Johnson, in his opinion, will divide Pennsylvania delegates. In Montana Mr. Moses heard Governor Dixon in a speech before a chamber of commerce meeting, nominate Pinchot for president. Senator Johnson, Mr. Moses concedes, will get an instructed delegation from his home state, California, with other delegates from elsewhere throughout the country.

Sensor Moses looks on Senator Ralston of Indiana as the most likely aspirant for the Democratic nomination. He based this on reports of an understanding having been entered into between William Brennan of Illinois and Thomas Taggart of Indiana, that in his opinion points to a combination to put those states behind the Ralston boom.

Republican success, in Mr. Moses' opinion, depends upon how many electoral votes the Farmer-Labor party may control. That group holds the key to the situation, he asserted, and may be able to throw the election into the house of representatives. The senator also sees the possibility of a Democratic victory if New York and New Jersey vote against the Republicans on the "wet" issue in those states.

Sensor Moses admits that the Republicans will have a hard time holding the senate next year. There are now only 51 Republicans to 43 Democrats and two Farmer-Labor members. If the Republicans lose three seats their majority is gone.

REGISTRATION IN CINCINNATI LIGHT

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 20.—With only one day remaining for registration, this city is 15,540 short in its registration. In all, 97,431 Cincinnati voters have qualified, 26,968 of these being women. This figure however is far below that of last year. Political observers are at a loss to explain the slump as the election involves many of the most important issues.

MAN WHO DEFIES LAW GOES TO HIS DEATH WHEN HOME FIRED

Alexandria, Minn., Oct. 20.—After an all night battle in which he stood off a score of deputies and militiamen who riddled his home with bullets and attempted to gas him with ammonia, Edward Larson, 38, went to his death today when his residence was burned to the ground by order of the sheriff and county attorney.

During the fierce battle, William Ransden, 25, an ex-service man and sharpshooter, was shot and killed.

WEBB QUESTIONED IN DEATH PROBE BY GRAND JURY

White Plains, N. Y., Oct. 20.—Testimony in the investigation by the grand jury of the mysterious death of the wealthy Mrs. Gertrude Gorman Webb was completed with the appearance before the jury of Charles Webb, husband of Mrs. Webb.

After leaving the jury room Webb said: "I have told the grand jury everything I wanted to know. I hope and believe I shall receive a complete vindication of the dastardly and venomous charges that have been directed against me. I have been whipped from pillar to post for three weeks, but now sunlight is ahead."

It is said the grand jury believes Webb completely innocent of any connection with his wife's death, but that it is concentrating on the report that a person of known mental instability had access to the sickroom and might have administered the poison found in Mrs. Webb's kidneys. This person made accusations against Webb.

WITNESS DECLARES SHE WAS TRICKED BY W. E. D. STOKES

New York, Oct. 20.—Mrs. Eleanor Williams, testifying in the divorce suit of W. E. D. Stokes, millionaire hotel man, against his wife, Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes, declared that Stokes had tricked her into signing a false affidavit, which accused Mrs. Stokes of unfaithfulness. Mrs. Williams repudiated the affidavit, which Max Steuer, counsel for Stokes, read in court at the trial. The affidavit, which Mrs. Williams branded as false, accused Mrs. Stokes of occupying a room in the home of Leon W. Pepperman at Bethel, Conn., with Edgar T. Wallace, mining engineer, who is named by Stokes in his suit. A new affidavit by Mrs. Williams declares she never saw Mrs. Stokes at Bethel. Mrs. Williams said she had gone to see Stokes at his Ansonia hotel, in New York, on his request, and that after an affidavit had been prepared, she signed it as she was in a hurry to get a train. Later, when she read the affidavit, she said, she found that Stokes had "deliberately tricked me into signing a false affidavit."

PAINFULLY INJURED WHEN MACHINE IS SIDESWIPED ON PIKE

Ray G. McCoy, 90 Home Avenue, employe of the Xenia Vulcanizing Co., was painfully injured shortly after five o'clock Friday evening when he was struck by an automobile driven by Albert J. Borden, 200 Hill Street, on the Dayton and Xenia pike about one-half mile from Xenia.

McCoy was returning to Xenia from Dayton and had stopped along the road to repair a tire. He claims his machine was as far as the road as possible. Borden was also driving toward Xenia, his machine sideswiping the Ford owned by the Xenia Vulcanizing Company which McCoy had been using.

McCoy jumped on the running board of his machine to avoid being hit, but was knocked into the road. He was bruised and strained about the hips and shoulders. A traveling salesman brought him to his home, where Dr. W. H. Finley attended him.

Borden's machine careened into the ditch and ran into a fence, but none of the occupants including three other men, was hurt. The machine was only slightly damaged. The Ford was damaged considerably when sideswiped. Borden said he was blinded by the lights of an approaching machine coming from Xenia and did not see the car stopped along the road.

STATE GOVERNORS ON WAY TO WASHINGTON TO PLEDGE SUPPORT

Not a Dissenting Vote Raised at White House "Law and Order" Conference Saturday Afternoon.

Washington, Oct. 20.—President Coolidge told the governors of thirty odd states at the White House this afternoon that it is as much as their duty to enforce prohibition law as it is the federal governments. He told them that the 18th amendment and Volstead law confer joint responsibility upon state and nation.

"Enforcement of prohibition laws," the president declared "is not a political question and cannot be made a political question."

Every line of the president's brief speech to the governors, whom he had invited to the White House, stressed the fact that law enforcement is not the peculiar function of the federal government, but of the states, counties and municipalities—and it is to the communities in the long run, he said, that "a law-abiding people" must look for protection against the lawless elements who smuggle booze, narcotics, and aliens who have no right to enter the United States.

Aboard Governors' Special Train. Enroute to Washington, Oct. 20.—State governors, fresh from their fifteenth annual conference at West Baden, Ind., today, were speeding rapidly to Washington, on a special train to pledge to President Coolidge full cooperation in the government's drive to enforce the prohibition law.

Not a dissenting voice will be raised at the White House "law and order" conference this afternoon when the written pledge is delivered to President Coolidge by Governor Baxter of Maine, that the states' chief executives are determined to maintain the sanctity of the constitution and enforce all laws of the country, particularly the dry, narcotic and immigration laws, which the president called the governors to discuss.

This was made certain when the two governors—Silzer of New Jersey and Parker of Louisiana, who voted against the Sweet resolution, pledged four square enforcement, announced, after extended consultation with dry leaders on the train, that they are prepared to assure the president that they are "determined to exert all energies to enforce the law."

"We are enforcing the dry law in New Jersey and we will continue to enforce, all laws that are a part of the constitution and will do so as long as they are on the statute books," Governor Silzer said.

Pointing out that because of certain conditions, peculiarly local to Louisiana, enforcement of the liquor law is perhaps more difficult in my state than in some of the others," Parker declared.

"Of course as governor of a state, and as an American citizen, I stand for strictest law enforcement."

To bear out his sincerity he cited the fight he is making in the state to wipe out the Ku Klux Klan, which he denounced as "an organization that defied constituted law and sought to take the law in its own hands to establish a supergovernment veiled behind the mask and robe."

While governors agreed that it was the duty of all federal and state executives to enforce those measures enacted into the law of the land, sharp division existed as to plans how to dry enforcement lines could be tightened more effectively.

The only semblance of unanimity on this question was indicated in the growing strength of the demand, voiced by Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania that President Coolidge himself take over enforcement of the federal enforcement system.

Pinchot will carry the challenge directly to the president this afternoon, pointing out that there is little hope for better enforcement unless responsibility is centralized; issuance of fraudulent warehouse withdrawal permits halted, and a sweeping housecleaning made in the prohibition service to oust all officials not accomplishing results.

"The sentiment of the country is overwhelmingly dry," Governor Pinchot said, "and prohibition is here to stay. It can be made effective if an honest effort is made by the federal administration assisted by the states to uphold it. In my opinion certain changes are needed in the present system, but after all, if the right kind of officials are at the head, force can be exerted to drive out the bootleggers and the saloonkeepers."

Efforts to reconcile Governor Parker, who resigned from the conference yesterday in protest against the passage of the Sweet resolution, proved unavailing today. While he said he held no personal animosities, the Louisiana executive announced flatly that he will never resume any connection with the conference.

With twenty six governors on board, the train is scheduled to

QUINN ELECTED COMMANDER OF LEGION FRIDAY

Wins Out Over Drain On Eleventh Ballot at Convention

San Francisco, Oct. 20.—John R. Quinn of California was elected national commander of the American Legion on the eleventh ballot at the closing session of the fifth annual convention here.

Following the longest and hardest fight ever witnessed on a legion convention floor, the Californian, nominated as "the educated cowboy," won out over James A. Drain of District of Columbia. Quinn's final vote was 502, five more than necessary to elect.

Largely responsible in securing the 1923 convention for San Francisco and popular in the rank and file of the units with which he worked in France, Quinn's selection seemed very satisfactory to the delegates.

The election of Quinn is also a personal victory for Colonel Thomas W. Miller, alien property custodian, who managed the Quinn campaign.

Quinn is past commander of the department of California and went overseas with the 348th field artillery. Immediately after his election Quinn outlined his policies for carrying on the work of the legion during the coming year. They include: Passage of the adjusted compensation act; accomplishment of the full hospitalization and rehabilitation programs; exposure of war profiteers; bringing the legion closer to the people through community service, and carrying on the legion's Americanism program in a practical rather than idealistic manner.

Ezra Clemons of Minnesota was named national chaplain by acclamation. Vice commanders elected were: Ryan Duffy, Wisconsin; Lester Albert, Idaho; William Healey, Pennsylvania; C. M. Stoddard, Arizona, and Thurman Mann, North Carolina.

Commander Quinn renamed all of the appointive legion officers as follows:

Lemuel Bolles, Seattle, national adjutant; Russell O. Creston, Indianapolis, assistant adjutant; Eben Putnam, Wellesley, Mass., historian; Robert Tyndall, Indianapolis, treasurer; Robert A. Adams, Indianapolis, adjutant.

Five vice commanders chosen by the veterans were: Lester Albert, Idaho; C. M. Stoddard, Arizona; William B. Heale, Pennsylvania; Thurman Mann, North Carolina and Ryan Duffy, Wisconsin. Ezra Clemons of Minnesota is the new national chaplain.

Members of the American Legion auxiliary selected Mrs. Franklin Bishop, of Massachusetts as president.

Among the first official acts of Commander Quinn was calling of a meeting of the national executive committee in January at Indianapolis.

CRABBE MAY RUN FOR GOVERNORSHIP

Columbus, Oct. 20.—Attorney General Crabbe is definitely considering being a candidate for the governorship. Whether he enters the race depends entirely on conditions "later on," he said. His final decision, he indicated, will not be made until early next spring. "If, later on, the indications are that Governor Donahay will be the Democratic nominee and there have not been radical changes in the conduct of the welfare department and the securities department, I may decide to be a candidate," Crabbe said.

ALLEN MAY BE COOLIDGE MATE

Gov. H. T. Allen.

His recent visits to the White House, followed by his defense of President in answer to Governor Gifford Pinchot's attack on the wet question, has caused friends of Governor Henry T. Allen of Kansas to predict that he will be the vice-President nominee if Mr. Coolidge wins the Republican nomination for the Presidency.

LIMA ATTORNEY GIVEN ONE YEAR IN WORKHOUSE

Toledo, O., Oct. 20.—Former Congressman Benjamin F. Welty, of Lima, was under sentence today to serve one year in the Dayton workhouse and pay a fine of $500, following his conviction of obtaining an excessive fee in securing compensation for an ex-soldier. Judge Paul Jones, of Youngstown, in Federal District Court, here, last night, imposed the sentence after overruling Welty's motion for a new trial.

Welty's attorney also filed a motion to set aside the jury's verdict on the ground that the law under which he was convicted is unconstitutional. Judge Jones refused to pass on this motion and referred it to the higher courts for decision.

Welty was found guilty Wednesday on charges of violating the compensation act, which, as a member of Congress, he had helped to pass. The law provided a fee of $300 for filing papers, but evidence brought out at hearing showed that Welty charged $1,200 for securing compensation for Franklin Strayer, of Lima.

Young Strayer is insane and at the trial, it was shown that his guardian had not agreed to pay Welty any such sum. Welty, on the witness stand, admitted that neither Young Strayer or his guardian had agreed to pay him, but the boy's father had agreed to allow him one fourth of the amount he secured besides $600 for expenses for three trips to Washington.

In imposing sentence, Judge Jones bitterly scored the former congressman, declaring that he was "money mad" and that either as a congressman or as an attorney, he must have known that the law allowed but $3 for such service.

The case will be appealed to the Federal Court of Appeals.

WELFARE SOCIETY ELECTS OFFICERS

Lima, O., Oct. 20.—Resolutions demanding the governor name a non-partisan board of seven persons to select the state director of public welfare, and for the adoption of the probation system for adults in the Ohio courts, were adopted by the Ohio Welfare association at the closing session of the convention here. Columbus was chosen as the city for the 1924 convention, which will be held in October. Officers elected are: President, W. S. Bixby, Akron; first vice president, Harry H. Howett, Columbus; second vice president, Mrs. Charles Blackford, Findlay; treasurer, H. A. Shirer, Upper Sandusky. The secretary is to be chosen by the executive committee of the association.

CEASE PAYING WAGE CREDITS; CRISIS FEARED

Terrific Social and Economic Upheaval Possible as Result

BAVARIA THREATENS

Tells Government It Will Use Armed Resistance

Berlin, Oct. 20.—The Berlin government today ceased all wage credits to the German workers in the Ruhr officially ending passive resistance against Franco-Belgian occupation. It is expected that a terrific social and economic crisis may follow as the government has been pouring billions of marks into the Ruhr weekly, since it was occupied, to support workmen, whether they worked or not.

Hugo Stinnes, the industrial and coal magnate, has conferred a second time with General DeGoutte, commander of the French artillery in the Ruhr, regarding working conditions under French occupation, it was learned today. This second conference took place on Wednesday. General DeGoutte insisted upon delivery of reparations coal as well as free coal for the railways in occupied territory and the troops.

General DeGoutte virtually threatened a coal blockade against unoccupied Germany. Stinnes tried to argue that the French demands were impossible but DeGoutte insisted and the conference ended in a deadlock.

General Von Lossow, commander of the reichswehr in Bavaria, was summarily dismissed because he failed to obey the first order to suppress the Hitlerite newspaper Voelkische Beobachter. Also Von Lossow refused to heed the recall order from Berlin and paid no attention to Berlin's demand that he resign.

Munich, Oct. 20.—Bavaria today sent a note to Berlin threatening armed resistance if "the German state attempts to violate Bavarian sovereignty."

The note was defiant in tone, almost an open challenge. An open break between Bavaria and Berlin seemed inevitable.

Dresden, Oct. 20.—Reinforcements of reichswehr arrived in Chamnetz, and Plauen today.

Premier Zeigner, of Saxony, who has been defying the Berlin government, has adopted a more conciliatory attitude.

Halle, Germany, Oct. 20.—Thirty thousand German coal miners went on strike in the vicinity around Halle today.

TO ARRAIGN PAIR ON A CHARGE OF BLACKMAILING MAN

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 20.—Don Osborn and Rose O. Putnam, Los Angeles California, who with R. G. Madison and J. A. Ryan, were indicted by the federal grand jury late Friday on charges of having impersonated government officers in connection with the alleged blackmailing of John L. Bushnell, Springfield, O. banker, and son of former Governor Asa S. Bushnell, out of $10,000, are to be brought to Cincinnati from Troy, next Thursday for arraignment before U. S. District Judge Smith Hickenlooper Friday morning.

Osborn and Miss Putnam were apprehended at Springfield several months ago, after it is said, a second attempt was made to force Mr. Bushnell to pay alleged blackmail to prevent them from carrying out their threats to prosecute him under a charge of having violated the Mann "white slave" act in connection with the alleged transportation of Miss Putnam from Los Angeles to Texas.

The second alleged demand of the alleged blackmailers was for $25,000, it was stated by federal officers.

The authorities have not apprehended Madison and Ryan, who are said to have posed as agents of the department of justice in negotiations alleged to have been carried on by Osborn in behalf of Miss Putnam, who is said to claim she is Osborn's niece.

TO DIE IN CHAIR

Springfield, O., Oct. 20.—Sentence of death was passed upon John Nelson, negro, for the murder of his wife, Ida Nelson, on July 22. Nelson is to lie in the electric chair at Ohio state penitentiary on Feb. 1. Judge Krapp passed sentence after overruling a motion for a new trial.

PAVING WORK ON SOUTHERN END OF PIKE STARTS SOON

Lewis and Copeland, Lima contractors, who are building the concrete pike between Xenia and Yellow Springs are low bidders on concrete for a section of 1.279 miles of the same pike between Yellow Springs and the Clark County line, according to announcement of L. A. Boulay, state highway director, Friday.

The Lima company bid $39,240.48 for the short section of pike C. J. Uble, Hillsboro, was low bidder for asphalt macadam, with a bid of $34,911.43 and also for tar macadam, with a bid of $35,153.40 while M. J. Cooney, Springfield, is low bidder with the only bid on lake asphalt macadam, his bid being $39,216.

Officials in the county surveyor's office here, say that because all of the pike is being constructed of concrete, that Lewis and Copeland will probably be awarded the paving of the short section north of Yellow Springs to make the road completely concrete.

Lewis and Copeland will move to the southern end of the road after completion of about four days work on the northern end of the paved section near Yellow Springs, it is said. The contractors started at the juncture with the Fairfield pike, north of Old Town, and the pike has been paved within a mile south of Yellow Springs. When the contractors transfer to the southern end of the pike, they will start just north of the railroad tracks beyond the city limits. The pike will probably be opened this winter, whether complete or not, it is said.

MIAMISBURG BANKER DRAWS 30 YEARS

Dayton, Oct. 20.—Pleading guilty of embezzling $104,547.18 from Miamisburg Banking Company, of which he was president, John J. Schwartz was sentenced to 30 years in the Ohio penitentiary on his arraignment Friday before Judge Robert C. Patterson in Common Pleas Court.

Preparations were made by Sheriff Howard Webster to take his prisoner to Columbus at once to begin serving his sentence.

The sentence is considered one of the most severe imposed in Dayton courts for the offense charged.

Health Hints by the Father of Physical Culture

BERNARR MACFADDEN

As a result of the blunders of man, we find ourselves with a natural temptation to eat more than we immediately need, with the resulting evils greatly increased by our decreased activities and the artificial stimulation of our appetites by unnatural foods.

Civilization has compounded thousands of dishes made of over-seasoned and appetite-tempting foods and so milled and cooked that they may be eaten more quickly and hence in larger quantities than natural food would be.

People who are too fat and know that they are too fat—who may even protest that they do not over-eat—do over-eat and continue to over-eat simply because they like to eat. Such people are always searching for some easy, lazy, way to "reduce", without either taking exercise or restricting the diet. They will take any kind of a reducing pill that any charlatan offers them, whether it be made of "bread" or poison. They will go to Turkish baths and sweat out a little water and so tip the scale a pound or two less and go home very happy—only to get their fat back as soon as they have satisfied their thirst. Fat cannot be sweated out nor can it be rubbed off or vanquished by electricity, magnetism, X-rays, or any other form of hocus-pocus.

Fat once deposited in the body can only be got rid of by burning it up, that is, by oxidizing it and breathing it out in the form of carbon-dioxide. There are two ways to achieve this end: one is by increased exercise, and the other is by the decreased consumption of fat-making foods which will cause the body to burn some of its stored fat in lieu of a shortage of fuel material coming directly from the food supply. Either of these methods of reducing will work alone, but the two of them will work better together. The difficulty with attempts to reduce by exercise without considering the diet is that the exercise frequently stimulates the appetite, and if that is unrestrained, the results may be merely that the additional food ingredients required by the exercise are supplied by the additional food eaten.

A wise combination of dieting and exercises in reduction, not because it is the easier method, but because it is the better method.

Since additional exercise tends to stimulate the appetite, it might be well to begin your program of exercise first and continue for a few days, before attempting to begin a restricted diet program. In such case you should be careful not to change your habits for the worse. As soon as the body has begun to draw upon its stored fat for a fuel supply and you have become accustomed to resisting the temptation to eat all you want, you may begin a systematic dietetic program for reduction.

The ideal method of weight reduction is to select a diet in which fat forming elements are less than the usual proportion for maintaining a normal weight—and to eat of such foods in quantities strictly limited to the amount necessary to supply the non-fat elements.

NAVY DAY TO BE ON OCTOBER 27

Navy Day, established last year, will be celebrated Saturday, October 27, with fitting observance in many cities, to bring to recognition of the value of the Navy.

Marion Eppley, national Navy Day chairman of the Navy League of the United States, is urging observance of the day, which has received the endorsement of two presidents, of Secretaries Hughes and Hoover and other prominent citizens. Navy day marks the birthday of the late President Theodore Roosevelt.

On Navy Day the Navy is saluted not only as an agency of defense but, as an instrument of mercy. Twice within the last year, it is said, the American Navy was the first on hand with its message of hope and rescue, at Smyrna, and Japan. Mr. Eppley says: "Adequately supported the Navy gives security by the withdrawal of a negligible fraction of our population from production. It gives security without planting the baleful seeds of militarism on our soil."

Women Adopt the Colorful Knitted Tie from the Masculine Fashion

With the tremendous growth of the vogue for knitted outerwear this fall, the knitted tie has found its place in the feminine mode, and is now being adapted to the blouse worn with the knitted jacket and the figured silk blouse worn so gracefully beneath the strappings of the new peasant frocks.

Perhaps the most significant feature of this new boyish toggery for women is the beautiful colorings. From Egypt have been borrowed subtle blendings of old red, gold, bronze and pottery blue, cleverly knitted into diagonally striped designs. There are new tones of blue and severely simple patterns almost classic in design.

The newest knitted ties have the popular open ends received so well by the masculine element. And the ties especially adapted to women's blouses are considerably shorter in length, despite the fact that they are purchased at the same counter where brother buys his.

A maroon tie of silk and cotton mixture is a combination which the dark-eyed girl should not overlook in select-

One is at a loss to name the new shades developed in these ties by their old-fashioned tints. One is not certain whether the Oriental shades of red are really in the classification of old rose, or if the greens and wood browns used separately or in combinations are not the nearest reproductions of nature's own palette we have ever attained.

For the jagged collars of the figured silk peasant blouses now used with the cunning jumper frocks, designers are taking the knitted tie as a finishing touch. Where the blouse boasts an intricate design, the tie should be of a suitable plain color. Where the blouse is in a solid color, one may select the most intricate design for the tie. This rule should be followed in selecting the new knitted tie so as to avoid ineffective conglomeration of patterns.

Old gold flowers are knitted into a dark brown silk tie and worn with a blouse of faint yellow. The three shades of yellow lend a new costume note to what we once knew as the shirtwaist.

To brighten up your last season's topcoat, just add a bit of color at the neckline of your blouse. Tangerine diagonally striped with old blue, violet with a touch of green, biscuit with old gold and orange stripings or a neatly figured pattern knitted in two shades of your favorite color will do wonders toward making a past costume look quite new and up-to-date.

ing her sports clothes. The business girl may accent the jauntyness of her tailor-made by the addition of a pretty knitted tie for her blouse collar. And the college girl can show her loyalty to her alma mater in no more personally attractive way than choosing her college hues in the knitted tie which she wears at college sports occasions.

LOCAL FOOTBALL TEAM PRACTICES HARD FOR GAME

The K.A.A. football team of this city will tangle with the St. Paul A. C. eleven of Dayton Sunday afternoon at Washington Park.

The St. Paul team has played but two games this season dropping the opener to the Barney Cadets by a close score but in the second game swamping another Dayton eleven by a large score. The St. Paul team averages about 145 pounds and will be about evenly matched with the locals. A good game is expected.

The K.A.A. bunch has won three games so far this season. The locals beat a Springfield team by 28 to 7 score while they handed the Wilmington Staleys a licking at Reserve Park in their second contest. Last week they played perfect football and swamped the Springfield Meters by a 38 to 0 score. The locals have been practicing hard during the past week under the direction of Lawrence Rachford and Captain Gene Leahey. The K.A.A. gang had developed a fine over head game and Foley, Neville, and Heery are good plungers. Gene Leahey who plays quarter excels on end runs while his passing of the pigskin is also good. The locals have a good set of ends in Purdon, former Central High Star, Carl Cowan, who played on two of the Championship football teams of Xenia High, Milburn and Cunigan.

There is lots of rivalry for positions on the team. Twenty-one men have been out for practice during the past week, one of the largest squads that ever tried for an independent team around Xenia. The local have all kinds of backfield material in Heery, Foley, Davis, E. Leahey, McFadden, Roach, Neville and Rachford. The line will be well taken care of by Purdon, Cowan, Milburn and Cunigan who will perform at the ends. Gordon, Jones, Donovan and Robinson, who take care of the tackle positions. Fudge, Lucas, and Anderson at the guards while the center position will be well taken care of by Frank Leahey who played with the Xenia American Legion last season.

With these kind of gridiron performers in a lineup the barbers are bound to make things interesting for the Gem City outfit. The game will get under way at 2:30 o'clock with W. Leahey in charge. The admission will be 35 cents.

WANTS SOCCER TEAM

W. Roberts, Holden Hotel, Dayton, is interested in the organization of a soccer football team in Xenia. According to Roberts, soccer is growing popular as an autumn sport in Dayton Cincinnati and other cities and inter-city matches are now the rule. Soccer has never reached the popular stage in America, being overshadowed by the rugby type of game, but growth in the game is noticed in recent years. Any one interested in the organization of a team here will find ready assistance by communicating with Roberts at the Holden Hotel, Dayton.

RACING FANS TURN EYES TOWARD BELMONT PARK WHERE ZEV WILL RACE PAPYRUS

New York, Oct. 20.—The world, as bounded on the north by a racing saddle, on the south by a stirrup and the east and west by the flying equine flank, arose this morning and without further ado cocked a concerned eye upon Belmont Park, where Zev, thoroughbred American, and Papyrus of bally old England, will race this afternoon in the general direction of $100,000 and the honor of two continents.

Overnight, Belmont Park became the American Newmarket, the blending of Epsom Downs, England and Churchill Downs, Ky., the rendezvous for a crowd of possibly 100,000 if the weather is fair and a few thousand less if threatening skies decide to take it out in weeping.

The official forecast was for cloudy and cooler but at an early hour, the sun glanced from the cloud-bank and cast it pale rays over the scene. Rain or shine however, the track prospects are for fairly heavy going, thanks to an all night rain. This is a condition toward which Sam Hildreth and Basil Jarvis, respective trainers of the American and English horses, have directed their prayer, provided they are praying men at all.

Zev is notorious for his ability to skip through the mud like a water bug. Papyrus also takes kindly to the "soup" a condition of further beneficence for the act that the English colt is accustomed to the soft spring of turf tracks.

Informal odds this morning made Papyrus an odds-on favorite at 3 to 5, Zev being quoted at 7 to 5 in spite of his known predilection for the mud that is wet and sticky. It is a matter of some doubt, however, whether Belmont Park, famous for its inclination to smile through a heavy rain will retain its mud for the occasion providing the sun stays with the situation.

Zev's price for the great occasion, the first international match race in the history of the turf, represents a contrast in values. Two weeks ago he was a prohibitive favorite odds ranging as high as 5 to 1. Today only the prospect of a muddy track keeps him from assuming the unflattering role of a long shot in a two horse race.

Much has happened in those two weeks however. In the first place Zev, injured in winning the Lawrence realization, has failed to prove to the satisfaction of many that he can carry his speed over the distance of today's race, a mile and a half. In several recent trials, the Sinclair colt seemed to be constrained, not to his leg weary.

Moreover, it was only yesterday that Zev was alleged to have broken out in a skin disease and for hours members of the jockey club selection committee ran around in widening circles and rumor was prevalent that My Own, the American alternate, was to be substituted. This possibility was heightened by the hasty summoning of My Own from Laurel, Md. But the committee after due deliberation announced that Zev was in condition to go on and in this decision it was supported by Hildreth. The latter has maintained from the first that Zev was and is ready to run his race.

Styles BY LENORE

This season the smart traveller will wear plaids and stripes.

There are many capes and cape suits shown—there is a stunning cape of plain and plaid kasha with a deep flaring flounce that is a favorite at Molyneux's, the French house whose travel clothes are always so wearable. But while capes are a favorite with French women, Americans seem to prefer the trim two-piece suit or topcoat of plaid, stripes, or some plain soft wool material, which is invariably so smart over the simple one-piece dress of cloth.

A straightline travel suit introduced by Lucien Lelong and sketched above, uses a charming plaid in gray and green, with novel pockets which are an important feature of the model.

Grid-Dust

By
Ray Higgins

Capital University, Columbus, coached by Jerry L. Katherman, former Central High School mentor played its first football game in a quarter of a century Friday afternoon, losing to Rio Grande, 6 to 0, after outplaying the opponents most of the game.

To Katherman, to whom it was given to pilot winners ever since leaving Ohio Northern, the showing of the Lutheran squad to date, has been a disappointment. The game was the first he has lost as a coach since leaving school with the exception of the Ohio Wesleyan-Ohio State game last fall.

Fans, however, say Jerry has set too high a standard for his green and inexperienced squad and they saw in the showing against Rio Grande Friday the makings of future gridiron greatness at the Columbus school.

Katherman complains that none of his athletes ever played football before and that they are learning the game slower than youth of high school age would imbibe it. Yet the showing of the team Friday seems to discount his statement.

Fumbles, always peculiar to a new team, kept Capital from beating Rio Grande, as the eleven lost several chances to score by carrying the ball loosely at critical times. A fumble enabled a Rio Grande back to score by scooping up the loose ball and running for a touchdown.

Columbus is with the new team solidly and a little of the coaching Katherman is capable of, should make the Lutheran squad popular in that city. Columbus sport writers declare Friday's game was a moral victory for the Lutherans.

The strength of Coach "Shifty" Bolen's Wilmington College football team was proven Friday at New Concord, when the Quakers held Coach Bill Lange's Muskingum College eleven to a 3 to 0 defeat.

A place kick from the 22-yard line in the first quarter by Quarterback Barton gave Muskingum its only score. The game was played on a soggy field, with both teams showing brilliant offensive and defensive strategy. "Squirt" Firsher starred for Wilmington at quarterback.

"Tad" Randall, former Central High star, played right half during the entire game for Bolen's eleven. The strength of the Wilmington game is shown by the fact that Muskingum defeated Kenyon 24 to 0 and only lost to Western Reserve by a 6 to 0 score.

Wilmington High School continued its march toward the South Central Ohio Football League championship by defeating Chillicothe, its strongest opponent, 20 to 0 Friday afternoon.

STATE MEETING OF KLAN HERE OCT. 27 WILL BE BIG AFFAIR

The Greene County Ku Klux Klan announced Saturday that plans for the state meeting here next Saturday, October 27 are about completed. Present plans of the committees in charge of the affair call for an all-day meeting. The county fairgrounds will probably be the scene of the celebration. There will be an afternoon of music by several bands and speeches by state and national leaders. Refreshment stands will provide food for the vast throng expected.

Marchers in the parade are to leave the fair grounds promptly at eight-thirty, the late hour being selected so as not to detract people from the business houses in the downtown district. Marchers will parade through the principal downtown streets, although the route has not yet been definitely settled. Red fire will mark the line march. Electric crosses and American flags will be displayed on automobiles participating in the parade together with several floats depicting the principles of the organization. It is said that already several bands have signified their intention of being present for the parade. The parade will return to the fairgrounds where the work of naturalization, which is said to be the most spectacular in Klan history will be open to the public.

The night meeting is to include initiation of both men, women and boys, said to be one of the largest classes in southern Ohio, together with speeches, and music by bands and glee clubs.

Immediately after the work of initiation, the committee has announced that a mammoth fireworks display will be presented.

The affair is to be public.

RED CROSS DRIVE TO START NOVEMBER ELEVENTH HERE

The Rev. William H. Tilford as General Chairman and Mrs. Louis M. Allison, as Associate Chairman of the Seventh Annual Red Cross Roll Call, in Greene County, were appointed by the County Executive Board of the Red Cross, at a recent meeting. The date set by the National Red Cross for the Roll Call, is from Armistice Day, Sunday November 11 to Thanksgiving Day, November 29. Sunday, the 11th is set apart throughout the United States as Red Cross Sunday.

Mrs. Louis Allison has been identified with the Red Cross at Laurel, Miss., for some five years before coming to Xenia. For two years she was Secretary of the Laurel Chapter and has had practical experience in Red Cross work. She was chairman of the Relief work of the chapter at the time Bay Springs, Miss., a town a few miles from Laurel was struck by a cyclone and many persons made homeless. Laurel Red Cross responded to the call for relief from Bay Springs under the direction of Mrs. Allison. For four years Mrs. Allison was chairman of the Red Cross Roll Call in Laurel.

At a meeting of the committee held Friday preliminary plans were laid for the Roll Call. Miss Emma Ebright of the Xenia National Bank will serve as Treasurer of the Drive. Ministers of the county will be asked to co-operate as in former years. Committees will be appointed soon. All Roll Call supplies have been received by the Chapter. Miniature theaters showing the work of the Red Cross are one of the new features of this year's campaign.

MUSTER IN NEW GUARD COMPANY

The new local company of the U. S. National Guard, recently organized here, was mustered into the service Friday night with special military exercises at the Court House.

The company consists of 60 men and three officers, and will form a unit of the 147th Infantry, 37th (Buckeye) Division and will be designated as E Company. The first drill will be held next week.

Quarters in the Binder Bldg., Main and Whiteman streets, originally selected as the Armory have been abandoned and the company will use the former Chamber of Commerce Hall, now occupied by the Ku Klux Klan, as barracks. Club rooms will be fitted out.

Men wishing to enlist may obtain information from Captain Leroy John, Lieutenant Don B. Clark or Lieutenant J. K. Berger. The Company will move into its new quarters November 1.

LATE J. A. M'CREA WELL KNOWN HERE

Colonel J. A. McCrea, vice president in charge of the central region of the Pennsylvania Railroad, who died at his home in Pittsburgh Wednesday of pneumonia, was well known by local company employees. He was formerly superintendent of the Cincinnati Division located at Cincinnati. He served last week as a pall bearer at the funeral of Ralph Peters, former Cincinnati Division official and had been ill less than a week.

TRAINER SHOTS TWO JUDGES IN HOTEL IN AKRON

Akron, O., Oct. 20.—Judge W. F. Gerhardt, of Columbus and, presiding Judge P. C. Callen, were shot this noon in the lobby of the Portage Hotel here by Trainer Webb, who was ruled off the track at Northampton Park Thursday for alleged swindling. Both men are said to be seriously wounded.

Webb was immediately arrested but police have not yet questioned him. According to witnesses of the shooting, it was not preceded by any kind of an argument. Webb is said to have met the men as they stepped from the elevator and started shooting. Thursday night the three men had a violent dispute during which Webb attacked Gerhardt and Callen. The house detective ejected Webb from the hotel.

Webb's suspension Thursday came after a race between Onedia and Damage. The judges accused Webb of jockeying and ruled him off the track and also suspended Jockey Eames.

Dog Sacrifices Life To Save Litter Of Puppies

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 13.—Only wisps of smoke arose from dying embers here and there and blackened joists and boards sang a song of steam from their char as firemen withdrew their hose lines from what remained of a frame cottage at 214 West Southgate street, Newport, Ky., yesterday afternoon.

The house had not been tenanted, but firemen stepped gingerly over fallen rafters, still hot, and entered a room what had been a kitchen.

Three came to the ears of the firemen a chorus of weak, snuffling cries, such as infants make when they instinctively miss the all-protecting nearness of their mother. Then the firemen saw the scorched form of a small female dog. Its seared paws outstretched before it on the floor as if to defy further progress of the flames.

No life remained in the dog, but the little squeaking, troubled whines continued. Not one voice was raised, but many.

Firemen traced the noises and stepped down through the burned part of the floor. Far back under the protecting covering of one spared corner, below the joists, were five puppies. Their eyes were not yet opened.

Not a hair on their soft, pulsating bodies had been touched by the flames.

As the firemen soberly bore out the blackened body of the mother dog and gave it decent burial, beneath a tree whose fallen leaves rustled a requiem, the only thought that came to them was that there was a mother's sacrifice.

So the puppies have found a home in a warm corner of the engine house of Fire Company No. 1.

Motion for a new trial was filed.

Chief Gunner George Bradley, U. S. N., a warrant officer, has just received from President Coolidge the Congressional Medal of Honor for courage beyond the call of duty. It was bestowed upon him for extreme courage in landing ammunition under terrific fire at Vera Cruz, when the Mexican city was occupied by the Navy in 1914. Bradley was then a member of the crew of the U. S. S. Utah.

BRYAN FARM GIFT IS TOPIC AT MEET

Recommendation by the administrative committee of the Ohio council of churches in session in Columbus, that the executive and legal officers of the state of Ohio be requested to institute court proceedings to determine whether acceptance by the legislature of the John Bryan farm in Green County is constitutional brought another divergence of opinion Tuesday.

The Bryan farm was willed to the state to be used as a public preserve, with the provision that no religious services should be conducted on the premises.

There were two opinions represented in the assembly Tuesday, one that acceptance by the legislature under such terms was unconstitutional, the other that more harm than good might be accomplished by rejection in event the property passed into the hands of undesirable parties, in view of its proximity to two colleges. Final settlement of the attitude of the assembly on the question was deferred until today.

A WIFE'S STORY

By Jane Phelps

REALIZATION COMES AT LAST

Chapter LVIII

Joan was sleeping heavily when I went to her room that night, but Laura sat huddled in a chair by the window, crying softly. I switched on the lights and saw the truth of what I suspected. Joan had been drinking again. As I stood looking down at the flushed face of my 17-year-old daughter, I felt that God would have been kind had He taken her when an innocent child. How was I, to save her, how to combat this habit that was growing upon her.

I bent over her and smoothed back the damp hair from her forehead, then kissed her hot, flushed face. With an aching heart, my eyes dimmed with tears, I joined Laura and we wept together.

"Where does she get it, Laura?" I asked after we had become calmer.

"I really don't know, mother, but some of her friends in town keep her supplied, I think. She was awfully blue tonight, talked so wildly she frightened me. I think something has gone wrong between her and Clem Sanders. I spoke of him and she fairly flew at me."

Again I wondered if Joan could have heard his cruel speech that day when he and Madge Dearing talked about her in the summer house, yet it seemed improbable, she couldn't have acted as gay and natural as she.

I stayed with Laura until she went to bed, and then I turned out the lights in the house and stationed myself in the guest room. I would watch the water for a time—unable to rid myself of the idea that the boats I so frequently saw held a sinister meaning for me.

I had sat there perhaps half an hour and was about to go to bed, having been unable to distinguish any small craft, I gave a last look, and crossing the lawn, keeping gwell in shadow I saw a form, a man. He reached the dock. Another joined him. Now I was all excitement. What did it mean?

I settled myself to watch.

Suddenly a rocket flared. The two men got into the boat and swiftly rowed away in the direction of the flare. For nearly two hours I watched. It was the darkest span of night, just before dawn, when my straining eyes detected them returning. They rowed up to the dock, then lifted what looked like heavy boxes from the boat.

My window was open and I heard a low whistle and almost immediately two more men appeared. Now each two lifted a box between them and bore it away. I dared not leave the window, but was sure they had taken them out back of the garage. I watched until the last box was gone, then flew to the front of the house where I could see the road in two directions.

A large motor car stood in the shadow of the men climbed into it, and with scarcely a sound they moved slowly away, while the other two men stood a moment; then they too disappeared in the opposite direction.

Paul had deliberately bought the house, built the dock, so that he might safely carry on his nefarious business; and in that house, drunk, with perhaps some of the stuff her own father had sold lay his 17 year old daughter, the beautiful girl who had told me it was "the usual thing for a merchant's family to use his goods."

No longer could I doubt, Paul, my handsome, fastidious husband, was a bootlegger. I bowed my head in shame, in despair. Yet he must be saved, saved from himself, and saved because of his children.

But how?

I felt my incompetence as never before, my lack of will to deal with him and so with the situation. The longer I studied over what to do, the farther I was from any decision. If I could make him understand what liquor was doing to Joan, that he made his bootlegging an excuse for gratifying her abnormal appetite, perhaps that might stop him. He loved Joan, I believed, as much as he loved anyone in the world, perhaps more. For mingled with his love was an intense pride in her beauty, the "Norwood beauty," he called it.

If he would only come. Now I felt I understood the visit of the Revenue Agents, that visit that had left me so indignant. In some way they had found out about the liquor being landed at our dock. They might come again—what if they had come that night?

The sun came up as I sat trying to think of some way to make Paul realize what he was doing. I arose from my chair, opened my bed to air, then put on a house dress. The girls must know nothing of my vigil.

Tomorrow—A Second Visit from the Revenue Agents

UNABLE TO PAY JUDGMENT

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Dr. Justin L. Mitchell, staff physician of the German Deaconess hospital here, was arrested for failure to pay $10,000 judgment to Miss Mathilde Benkhart following her legal victory in the suit based on an alleged kissing episode in the hospital nursery. He was ordered to pay Miss Benkhart $500 a month until the $10,000 judgment was satisfied. When brought into court for failure to comply with the order he declared himself insolvent.

COOLIDGE WILL GET OPPOSITION FOR NOMINATION

Senator Moses Airs Views Regarding President's Chances

NOT FIRST BALLOT

Says Ford Likely to Accept Farmer Labor Nomination

Washington, Oct. 20.—President Coolidge can not expect to go into the Republican national convention next year unopposed for the nomination or with enough delegates instructed to insure his nomination on the first ballot.

This opinion was expressed here by Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire, avowed supporter of the president. Senator Moses has just returned from a tour of 10 states of the west.

If Mr. Ford accepts the nomination of the Farmer-Labor party, as now seems likely, he will create an unhappy situation in the Republican party, the senator said. Electoral votes Ford might obtain would be at the expense of the Republican nominee, he added.

Senator LaFollette will not join any third party movement, the senator said. The New York state delegation, he understands, will go to the convention instructed for Senator Wadsworth.

Former Governor Lowden of Illinois is said to be conducting a live campaign with a capable representative in Washington. The Illinois leader is seeking to persuade state leaders to stand against instructed delegations. In Indiana congressional divisions already have formed Hiram Johnson clubs, while the supporters of Senator Watson are to be reckoned with.

Senator Moses has no doubt that Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania will be a candidate for the nomination. Senator Johnson, in his opinion, will divide Pennsylvania delegates. In Montana Mr. Moses heard Governor Dixon in a speech before a chamber of commerce meeting, nominate Pinchot for president. Senator Johnson, Mr. Moses concedes, will get an instructed delegation from his home state, California, with other delegates from elsewhere throughout the country.

Senator Moses looks on Senator Ralston of Indiana as the most likely aspirant for the Democratic nomination. He based this on reports of an understanding having been entered into between William Brennan of Illinois and Thomas Taggart of Indiana, that in his opinion points to a combination to put those states behind the Ralston boom.

Republican success, in Mr. Moses' opinion, depends upon how many electoral votes the Farmer-Labor party may control. That group holds the key to the situation, he asserted, and may be able to throw the election into the house of representatives. The senator also sees the possibility of a Democratic victory if New York and New Jersey vote against the Republicans on the "wet" issue in those states.

Senator Moses admits that the Republicans will have a hard time holding the senate next year. There are now only 51 Republicans to 43 Democrats and two Farmer-Labor members. If the Republicans lose three seats their majority is gone.

MAN WHO DEFIES LAW GOES TO HIS DEATH WHEN HOME FIRED

Alexandria, Minn., Oct. 20.—After an all night battle in which he stood off a score of deputies and militiamen who riddled his home with bullets and attempted to gas him with ammonia, Edward Larson, 38, went to his death today when his residence was burned to the ground by order of the sheriff and county attorney.

WEBB QUESTIONED IN DEATH PROBE BY GRAND JURY

White Plains, N. Y., Oct. 20.—Testimony in the investigation by the grand jury of the mysterious death of the wealthy Mrs. Gertrude Gorman Webb was completed with the appearance before the jury of Charles Webb, husband of Mrs. Webb.

After leaving the jury room Webb said: "I have told the grand jury everything it wanted to know. I hope and believe I shall receive a complete vindication of the dastardly and venomous charges that have been directed against me. I have been whipped from pillar to post for three weeks, but now sunlight is ahead."

It is said the grand jury believes Webb completely innocent of any connection with his wife's death, but that it is concentrating on the report that a person of known mental instability had access to the sickroom and might have administered the poison found in Mrs. Webb's kidneys. This person made accusations against Webb.

WITNESS DECLARES SHE WAS TRICKED BY W. E. D. STOKES

New York, Oct. 20.—Mrs. Eleanor Williams, testifying in the divorce suit of W. E. D. Stokes, millionaire hotel man, against his wife, Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes, declared that Stokes had tricked her into signing a false affidavit, which accused Mrs. Stokes of unfaithfulness. Mrs. Williams repudiated the affidavit, which Max Steuer, counsel for Stokes, read in court at the trial. The affidavit, which Mrs. Williams branded as false, accused Mrs. Stokes of occupying a room in the home of Leon W. Pepperman at Bethel, Conn., with Edgar T. Wallace, mining engineer, who is named by Stokes in his suit. A new affidavit by Mrs. Williams declares she never saw Mrs. Stokes at Bethel. Mrs. Williams said she had gone to see Stokes at his Ansonia hotel, in New York, on his request, and that after an affidavit had been prepared, she signed it as she was in a hurry to get a train. Later, when she read the affidavit, she said, she found that Stokes had "deliberately tricked me into signing a false affidavit."

PAINFULLY INJURED WHEN MACHINE IS SIDESWIPE ON PIKE

Ray G. McCoy, 90 Home Avenue, employee of the Xenia Vulcanizing Co., was painfully injured shortly after five o'clock Friday evening when he was struck by an automobile driven by Albert J. Borden, 200 Hill Street, on the Dayton and Xenia pike about one-half mile from Xenia.

McCoy was returning to Xenia from Dayton and had stopped along the road to repair a tire. He claims his machine was as far as the road as possible. Borden was also driving toward Xenia, his machine sideswiping the Ford owned by the Xenia Vulcanizing Company which McCoy had been using.

McCoy jumped on the running board of his machine to avoid being hit, but was knocked into the road. He was bruised and strained about the hips and shoulders. A traveling salesman brought him to his home, where Dr. W. H. Finley attended him.

STATE GOVERNORS ON WAY TO WASHINGTON TO PLEDGE SUPPORT

Not a Dissenting Vote Raised at White House "Law and Order" Conference Saturday Afternoon.

Washington, Oct. 20.—President Coolidge told the governors of thirty odd states at the White House this afternoon that it is as much as their duty to enforce prohibition law as it is the federal governments. He told them that the 18th amendment and Volstead law confer joint responsibility upon state and nation.

"Enforcement of prohibition laws," the president declared "is not a political question and cannot be made a political question."

Every line of the president's brief speech to the governors, whom he had invited to the White House, stressed the fact that law enforcement is not the peculiar function of the federal government, but of the states, counties and municipalities—and it is to the communities in the long run, he said, that "a law-abiding people" must look for protection against the lawless elements who smuggle booze, narcotics, and aliens who have no right to enter the United States.

Aboard Governors' Special Train. Enroute To Washington, Oct. 20.—State governors, fresh from their fifteenth annual conference at West Baden, Ind., today, were speeding rapidly to Washington, on a special train to pledge to President Coolidge full cooperation in the government's drive to enforce the prohibition law.

Not a dissenting voice will be raised at the White House "law and order" conference, this afternoon, when the written pledge is delivered to President Coolidge by Governor Baxter, of Maine, that the states' chief executives are determined to maintain the sanctity of the constitution and enforce all laws of the country, particularly the dry, narcotic and immigration laws, which the president called the governors to discuss.

This was made certain when the two governors—Slizer of New Jersey and Parker, of Louisiana, who voted against the Sweet resolution, pledging four square enforcement, announced, after extended consultation with dry leaders on the train, that they are prepared to assure the president that they are "determined to exert all energies to enforce the law."

"We are enforcing the dry law in New Jersey and we will continue to enforce all laws that are a part of the constitution and will do so as long as they are on the statute books," Governor Slizer said.

Pointing out that because of certain conditions, peculiarly local to Louisiana, enforcement of the liquor law is perhaps more difficult in my state than in some of the others," Parker declared.

"Of course as governor of a state, and as an American citizen, I stand for strictest law enforcement. I stand for the law, and I sincerely hope the fight he is making in the state to wipe out the Ku Klux Klan, which he denounced as 'an organization that defied constituted law and sought to take the law in its own hands to establish a supergovernment velle behind the mask and robe.'"

While governors agreed that it was the duty of all federal and state executives to enforce those measures enacted into the law of the land, sharp division existed as to plans how to dry enforcement lines could be tightened more effectively.

The only semblance of unanimity on this question was indicated in the growing strength of the demand, voiced by Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania that President Coolidge himself take over the responsibility of the federal enforcement system.

Pinchot will carry that challenge directly to the president this afternoon, pointing out that there is little hope for better enforcement unless responsibility is centralized; issuance of fraudulent warehouse withdrawal permits halted, and a sweeping housecleaning made in the prohibition service to oust all officials not accomplishing results.

"The sentiment of the country is overwhelmingly dry," Governor Pinchot said, "and prohibition is here to stay. It can be made effective if an honest effort is made by the federal administration assisted by the states to uphold it. In my opinion certain changes are needed in the present system, but after all, if the right kind of officials are at the head, force can be exerted to drive out the bootleggers and the saloonkeepers."

Efforts to reconcile Governor Parker, who resigned from the conference yesterday in protest against the passage of the Sweet resolution, proved unavailing today. While he said he held no personal animosities, the Louisiana executive announced flatly that he will never resume any connection with the conference.

With twenty six governors on board, the train is scheduled to

ALLEN MAY BE COOLIDGE MATE

Gov. H. T. Allen, nzs.

His recent visits to the White House, followed by his defense of President in answer to Governor Gifford Pinchot's attack on the wet question, has caused friends of Governor Henry T. Allen of Kansas to predict that he will be the vice-President nominee if Mr. Coolidge wins the Republican nomination for the Presidency.

LIMA ATTORNEY GIVEN ONE YEAR IN WORKHOUSE

Toledo, O., Oct. 20.—Former Congressman Benjamin F. Welty, of Lima, was under sentence today to serve one year in the Dayton workhouse and pay a fine of $500, following his conviction of obtaining an excessive fee in securing compensation for an ex-soldier. Judge Paul Jones, of Youngstown, in Federal District Court, here, last night, imposed the sentence after overruling Welty's motion for a new trial.

Welty's attorney also filed a motion to set aside the jury's verdict on the ground that the law under which he was convicted is unconstitutional. Judge Jones refused to pass on this motion and referred it to the higher courts for decision.

Welty was found guilty Wednesday on charges of violating the compensation act, which, as a member of Congress, he had helped to pass. The law provided a fee of $300 for filing papers, but evidence brought out at hearing showed that Welty charged $1,200 for securing compensation for Franklin Strayer, of Lima.

Young Strayer is insane and at the trial, it was shown that his guardian had not agreed to pay Welty any such sum. Welty, on the witness stand, admitted that neither Young Strayer or his guardian had agreed to pay him, but the boy's father had agreed to allow him one fourth of the amount he secured besides $600 for expenses for three trips to Washington.

In imposing sentence, Judge Jones bitterly scored the former congressman, declaring that he was "money mad" and that either as a congressman or as an attorney, he must have known that the law allowed but $3 for such service.

The case will be appealed to the Federal Court of Appeals.

WELFARE SOCIETY ELECTS OFFICERS

Lima, O., Oct. 20.—Resolutions demanding the governor name a non-partisan board of seven persons to select the state director of public welfare, and for the adoption of the probation system for adults in the Ohio courts, were adopted by the Ohio Welfare association at the closing session of the convention here. Columbus was chosen as the city for the 1924 convention, which will be held in October. Officers elected are: President, W. S. Bixby, Akron; first vice president, Harry H. Howett, Columbus; second vice president, Mrs. Charles Blackford, Findlay; treasurer, H. A. Shirer, Upper Sandusky. The secretary is to be chosen by the executive committee of the association.

Columbus, Oct. 20.—Attorney General Crabbe is definitely considering being a candidate for the governorship. Whether he enters the race depends entirely on conditions "later on," he said. His final decision, he indicated, will not be made until early next spring. "If, later on, the indications are that Governor Donahey will be the Democratic nominee and there have not been radical changes in the conduct of the welfare department and the securities department, I may decide to be a candidate," Crabbe said.

CEASE PAYING WAGE CREDITS; CRISIS FEARED

Terrific Social and Economic Upheaval Possible as Result

BAVARIA THREATENS

Tells Government It Will Use Armed Resistance

Berlin, Oct. 20.—The Berlin government today ceased all wage credits to the German workers in the Ruhr officially ending passive resistance against Franco-Belgian occupation. It is expected that a terrific social and economic crisis may follow as the government has been pouring billions of marks into the Ruhr weekly, since it was occupied, to support workmen, whether they worked or not.

Hugo Stinnes, the industrial and coal magnate, has conferred a second time with General DeGoutte, commander of the French artillery in the Ruhr, regarding working conditions under French occupation. It was learned today. This second conference took place on Wednesday. General DeGoutte insisted upon delivery of reparations coal as well as free coal for the railways in occupied territory and the troops.

General DeGoutte virtually threatened a coal blockade against unoccupied Germany. Stinnes tried to argue that the French demands were impossible but DeGoutte insisted and the conference ended in a deadlock.

General Von Lossow, commander of the reichswehr in Bavaria, was summarily dismissed because he failed to obey the first order to suppress the Hitlerite newspaper Voelkische Beobachter. Also Von Lossow refused to heed the recall order from Berlin and paid no attention to Berlin's demand that he resign.

Munich, Oct. 20.—Bavaria today sent a note to Berlin threatening armed resistance if "the German state attempts to violate Bavarian sovereignty."

The note was defiant in tone, almost an open challenge. An open break between Bavaria and Berlin seemed inevitable.

Dresden, Oct. 20.—Reinforcements of reichswehr arrived in Chemnitz, and Plauen today.

Premier Zeigner, of Saxony, who has been defying the Berlin government, has adopted a more conciliatory attitude.

Halle, Germany, Oct. 20.—Thirty thousand German coal miners went on strike in the vicinity around Halle today.

TO ARRAIGN PAIR ON A CHARGE OF BLACKMAILING MAN

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 20.—Don Osborn and Rose O. Putnam, Los Angeles California, who with R. G. Madison and J. A. Ryan, were indicted by the federal grand jury late Friday on charges of having impersonated government officers in connection with the alleged blackmailing of John L. Bushnell, Springfield, O., banker, and son of former Governor Asa S. Bushnell, out of $10,000, are to be brought to Cincinnati from Troy, next Thursday for arraignment before U. S. District Judge Smith Hickenlooper Friday morning.

Osborn and Miss Putnam were apprehended at Springfield several months ago, after it is said, a second attempt was made to force Mr. Bushnell to pay alleged blackmail to prevent them from carrying out their threats to prosecute him under a charge of having violated the Mann "white slave" act in connection with the alleged transportation of Miss Putnam from Los Angeles to Texas.

The second alleged demand of the alleged blackmailers was for $25,000, it was stated by federal officers.

The authorities have not apprehended Madison and Ryan, who are said to have posed as agents of the department of justice in negotiations alleged to have been carried on by Osborn in behalf of Miss Putnam, who is said to claim she is Osborn's niece.

Springfield, O., Oct. 20.—Sentence of death was passed upon John Nelson, negro, for the murder of his wife, Ida Nelson, on July 22. Nelson is to die in the electric chair at Ohio state penitentiary on Feb. 1. Judge Krapp passed sentence after overruling a motion for a new trial.

PAVING WORK ON SOUTHERN END OF PIKE STARTS SOON

Lewis and Copeland, Lima contractors, who are building the concrete pike between Xenia and Yellow Springs are low bidders on concrete for a section of 1.279 miles of the same pike between Yellow Springs and the Clark County line, according to announcement of L. A. Boulay, state highway director, Friday.

The Lima company bid $39,240.45 for the short section of pike C. J. Uible, Hillsboro, was low bidder for asphalt macadam, with a bid of $34,911.43 and also for tar macadam, with a bid of $35,153.46 while M. J. Cooney, Springfield, is low bidder with the only bid on lake asphalt macadam, his bid being $39,316.

Officials in the county surveyor's office here, say that because all of the pike is being constructed of concrete, that Lewis and Copeland will probably be awarded the paving of the short section north of Yellow Springs to make the road completely concrete.

Lewis and Copeland will move to the southern end of the road after completion of about four days work on the northern end and the paved section near Yellow Springs, it is said. The contractors started at the junction with the Fairfield pike, north of Old Town, and the pike has been paved within a mile south of Yellow Springs. When the contractors transfer to the southern end of the pike, they will start just north of the railroad tracks beyond the city limits. The pike will probably be opened this winter, whether complete or not, it is said.

MIAMISBURG BANKER DRAWS 30 YEARS

Dayton, Oct. 20.—Pleading guilty of embezzling $104,547.18 from Miamisburg Banking Company, of which he was president, John J. Schwartz was sentenced to 30 years in the Ohio penitentiary on his arraignment Friday before Judge Robert C. Patterson in Common Pleas Court.

Preparations were made by Sheriff Howard Webster to take his prisoner to Columbus at once to begin serving his sentence.

The sentence is considered one of the most severe imposed in Dayton courts for the offense charged.

Health Hints by the Father of Physical Culture

As a result of the blunders of man, we find ourselves with a natural temptation to eat more than we immediately need, with the resulting evils greatly increased by our decreased activities and the artificial stimulation of our appetites by unnatural foods.

Civilization has compounded thousands of dishes made of over-seasoned and appetite-tempting foods and so milled and cooked that they may be eaten more quickly and hence in larger quantities than natural food would be.

People who are too fat and know that they are too fat—who may even protest that they do not over-eat—do over-eat and continue to over-eat simply because they like to eat. Such people are always searching for some easy, lazy, way to "reduce", without either taking exercise or restricting the diet. They will take any kind of a reducing pill that any charlatan offers them, whether it be made of "bread" or poison. They will go to Turkish baths and sweat out a little water and so tip the scale a pound or two less and go home very happy—only to get their fat back as soon as they have satisfied their thirst. Fat cannot be sweated out nor can it be rubbed off or vanquished by electricity, magnetism, X-rays, or any other form of hocus-pocus.

Fat once deposited in the body can only be got rid of by burning it up, that is, by oxidizing it and breathing it out in the form of carbon-dioxide. There are two ways to achieve this end: one is by increased exercise, and the other is by the decreased consumption of fat-making foods which will cause the body to burn some of its stored fat in lieu of a shortage of fuel material coming directly from the food supply. Either of these methods of reducing will work alone, but the two of them will work better together. The difficulty with attempts to reduce by exercise without considering the diet is that the exercise frequently stimulates the appetite; and if that is unrestrained, the results may be merely that the additional food ingredients required by the exercise are supplied by the additional food eaten.

A wise combination of dieting and exercises in reduction, not because it is the easier method, but because it is the better method.

Since additional exercise tends to stimulate the appetite, it might be well to begin your program of exercise first and continue for a few days, before attempting to begin a restricted diet program. In such case you should be careful not to change your habits for the worse. As soon as the body has begun to draw upon its stored fat for a fuel supply and you have become accustomed to resisting the temptation to eat all you want, you may begin a systematic dietetic program for reduction.

The ideal method of weight reduction is to select a diet in which fat forming elements are less than the usual proportion for maintaining a normal weight—and to eat of such foods in quantities strictly limited to the amount necessary to supply the non-fat elements.

NAVY DAY TO BE ON OCTOBER 27

Navy Day, established last year, will be celebrated Saturday, October 27, with fitting observance in many cities, to ending to recognition of the value of the Navy.

Marion Eppley, national Navy Day chairman of the Navy League of the United States, is urging observance of the day, which has received the endorsement of two presidents, of Secretaries Hughes and Hoover and other prominent citizens. Navy day marks the birthday of the late President Theodore Roosevelt.

On Navy Day the Navy is saluted not only as an agency of defense but as an instrument of mercy. Twice within the last year, it is said, the American Navy was the first on hand with its message of hope and rescue, at Smyrna, and Japan. Mr. Eppley says: "Adequately supported the Navy gives security by the withdrawal of a negligible fraction of our population from production. It gives security without planting the baleful seeds of militarism on our soil."

BERLIN BROKERS STRIKE

Berlin, Oct. 20.—in the midst of a new plunge of the mark to below the 10 billion to the dollar line, brokers on the Berlin stock exchange went on strike, causing a sensation and much confusion of quotations. The strike came suddenly when the directors of the bourse tried to make the brokers liable for the losses of the bankrupt bank of the Zeidler-Hoffman company, which carried large speculative accounts. The losses ran to thousands of trillions of marks.

Women Adopt the Colorful Knitted Tie from the Masculine Fashion

With the tremendous growth of the vogue for knitted outerwear this fall, the knitted tie has found its place in the feminine mode, and is now being adapted to the blouse worn with the tailored suit, the slip-on sweater, the knitted jacket and the figured silk blouse worn so gracefully beneath the strappings of the new peasant frocks.

Perhaps the most significant feature of this new boyish toggery for women is the beautiful colorings. From Egypt have been borrowed subtle blendings of old red, gold, bronze and pottery blue, cleverly knitted into diagonally striped designs. There are new tones of blue and severely simple patterns almost classic in design.

The newest knitted ties have the popular open ends received so well by the masculine element. And the ties especially adapted to women's blouses are considerably shorter in length, despite the fact that they are purchased at the same counter where brother buys his.

A maroon tie of silk and cotton mixture is a combination which the dark-eyed girl should not overlook in select-

One is at a loss to name the new shades developed in these ties by their old-fashioned tints. One is not certain whether the Oriental shades of red are really in the classification of old rose, or if the greens and wood browns used separately or in combinations are not the nearest reproductions of nature's own palette we have ever attained.

For the jagged collars of the figure's silk peasant blouses now used with the cunning jumper frocks, designers are taking the knitted tie as a finishing touch. Where the blouse boasts an intricate design, the tie should be of a suitable plain color. Where the blouse is in a solid color, one may select the most intricate design for the tie. This rule should be followed in selecting the new knitted tie so as to avoid ineffective conglomeration of patterns.

Old gold flowers are knitted into a dark brown silk tie and worn with a blouse of faint yellow. The three shades of yellow lend a new costume note to what we once knew as the shirtwaist.

To brighten up your last season's topcoat, just add a bit of color at the neckline of your blouse. Tangerine diagonally striped with old blue, violet with a touch of green, bisquit with old gold and orange stripings or a neatly figured pattern knitted in two shades of your favorite color, will do wonders toward making a passé costume look quite new and up-to-date.

ing her sports clothes. The business girl may accent the jauntyness of her tailor-made by the addition of a pretty knitted tie for her blouse collar. And the college girl can show her loyalty to her alma mater in no more personally attractive way than choosing her college hues in the knitted tie which she wears at college sports occasions.

LONG PEDIGREE FOR SAPLING SENT TO EAST

A long and honorable pedigree distinguishes the youthful sapling that has been sent to Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, by John Creighton Ball, of Bowersville to be planted over the grave of the immortal "Teddy."

Admitting that there are doubtless thousands of the same sort of trees scattered about the country just as beautiful, Mr. Ball evidently an ardent admirer of the late President Roosevelt claims that this one "reads its title clear" and further that it will be honored by its association with the name of "our Teddy," the greatest patriot of his day and generation.

The pedigree of the willow sapling thus honored is given by Mr. Ball as follows: "Many years ago the Government of Great Britain sent the Government of the United States, a cutting from the tree that it had caused to be planted at the grave of Napoleon Bonaparte on the Island of St. Helena."

"The U. S. Government had the cutting planted near the tomb of George Washington at Mt. Vernon, where it is still flourishing."

"Some years ago, a Mr. York, then Superintendent of the Indiana State Reform School for Boys at Plainfield, Ind., when visiting Mt. Vernon, was giving a cutting from the Washington tree and some years later gave a cutting from the Plainfield tree, to William C. Ball of 1138 S. Fifth Street, Terre Haute, Ind. at that time a trustee of the Reform School; which tree is a fine specimen, some ten inches in diameter, at this date, February 12, '22."

"The tree I am now offering has been grown from a cutting taken from the Terre Haute tree."

"All of the foregoing is authentic and susceptible of proof, but there is an interesting legend, connected with the Washington Willow. It is said that as no willows of this sort grow in England and as they are indigenous and grow in profusion upon the banks of the river Jordan, the English probably got the St. Helena tree from there."

John Creighton Ball.

Frederick, senior member of the firm which manufactures the new pancake flour, was present at the company gathering, and addressed the employees on the merits of the new flour, which will be in the hands of distributors over the country in about a week. Mr. Frederick gave the details of the preparation of the flour and its ingredients. The flour will be known after its establishment on the market as an "E" brand product. Several talks by the Eavey salesman were given.

Historical Newel Post Installed In Church

A newel post, which bears an interesting history, and the wood of which, is about a century old, has been secured by T. Dales, Kyle, and placed in the First United Presbyterian church, on East Market street. The post was discovered by Mr.

Kyle, in the parsonage, of the First Reformed church, on West Church street, which is being re-constructed into a two-apartment building.

The mahogany post was removed to the church, and upon examination a note was found in the hollow of the post, bearing a statement of the builder, the late William Smith. Mr. Smith was a member of the First U. B. church, and lived on West Church street, in the residence that is now the parsonage of the First Reformed Church, and where for a number of years his wife kept a boarding house for ministers and seminary students.

The statement of Mr. Smith reads: "To the reader of this note you may be, will see by this note that Mr. Smith was the builder of the post, from a design of his own. Was living here in Xenia at No. 30 West Church street, at the time the post was made in 1855. The post was made from lumber of communion tables used in the First U. P. Church, Xenia, for fifty years, before the post was made by Mr. Smith."

In by-gone years the communion tables from which the newel post was made, was placed along the aisles of the churches, where the communicants took the wine and bread. At the time the custom was abandoned, the tables were obtained by Mr. Smith, and used to construct the newel post.

Through its historical connection with the church, the post was secured by Mr. Kyle and will be placed in a prominent position in the church auditorium.

LUTHERANS END SYNOD MEETING HELD IN CANTON

The Fourth Annual Convention of the Synod of Ohio, which is a part of the United Lutheran Church of America, was held this week in Trinity Lutheran Church of Canton, O. This is one of the largest churches of the denomination in the state, and the church was almost taxed to its capacity in all the sessions of the convention. There were five hundred delegates in attendance.

Among the outstanding features of the convention was a large fellowship banquet of the men of the synod held in the Courtland Hotel, at which Senator Frank B. Willis, Judge Henry Harter, of Canton, John L. Zimmerman, of Springfield, and others spoke.

The first world convention of the Lutheran Church, held last August in Eisenach, Germany, was ably and impressively reported by the president of the United Lutheran Church of America, Rev. F. H. Knubel, D. of New York City. Nine young men known as the "Fighting Nine," who were all in the overseas service in the world war, were ordained to the Gospel ministry.

This synod stressed a greater zeal and faithfulness to all the operations of the church together with the work of benevolence, and personal evangelism for the coming year. The first president of the Ohio synod, Rev. P. W. Koller, D. D., of Mansfield, will continue in his office for another year. The pastor, B. B. Uhl, of the local church and John Vanderpool were the representatives from Xenia at this convention. The next convention will be held at Van Wert, Ohio.

POSTAL EFFICIENCY.

Possibly the criterion of efficiency and character is the manner in which the small details are handled by an individual or a group of individuals representing a business, institution or industry. If the small details are creditably handled it usually follows that the larger matters are well-managed.

If this be true, the efficiency of the Chicago postoffice which is the second largest in the country, and serving over two and a half million people, would seem unquestioned. In support of the statement a recent convincing proof of the way in which this great office pays attention to the small things is worthy of mention.

A Chicago subscriber of The Evening Gazette complained that his paper was not being delivered to him regularly. This complaint obvious was but a small incident in the daily business of the Chicago institution. It would seem that the complaint would receive scant attention. The contrary, however, was the case when officials got into touch with the subscriber immediately, checked up on the delivery of the paper to their office, instructed a certain carrier, and then when everything was apparently arranged, took the time to send a special messenger to the subscriber on several occasions to make sure he was receiving his paper regularly.

A small incident but the lesson it draws is attention to small things and indicates the high type of efficiency, that probably is characteristic of the entire Chicago postal system.

"PASSING THE BUCK"

The new rum row spreads, growing more colorful as it widens. Governor Pinchot tells President Coolidge, in almost so many words, that he should enforce prohibition. Ex-Governor Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, leaping to the presidential rescue, reminds Pinchot that instead of "passing the buck" to Washington the Forester should call out the National Guard and with bayonets enforce the law in his own state. He would have Pinchot remove the "beam in his own eye before pointing to the mote" in the White House optic. So say a thousand others.

ASSISTANT ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION.

Bootlegging, according to Mrs. Willebrandt, the Assistant United States Attorney General, "will shortly move out of our best families." The speaker in her trenchant Forum address put her finger on the thing that has made rum-running difficult to eradicate—the social prestige it has acquired. As soon as it came to be smart to evade the law the bootlegger became quasi-hesio, a figure of luster and glamour like the pirate of old or the bad man of Wild Western stories. In a more wholesome state of public opinion, it is a mark of obloquy rather than of distinction to evade a Federal statute, whatever private opinion one may hold of the statute itself.

Today's Talk

PULSE

"Nobody," says Kipling, "seems to know the laws that govern the pulse of the big waters."

The doctor puts his fingers upon our wrist and in the silence he listens for the story that comes from this pulse of ours. In his understanding mind, he evolves much from that tiny throb.

And so we have learned that pulse means much—that from it may be established a basis of action, as well as of sense.

I read recently that even the tree has a pulse. Perhaps the flower has, too.

If we are big enough to understand it, the world may have a pulse and we may touch it with our fingers and learn what the vital, moving heart of the world has for us.

But to touch a pulse and fathom deep into its secrets, you must have rare understanding.

The great man senses the pulse of crowds, of masses feeling and stored hope. He is able to inspire health and beauty where only discouragement and ugliness lived before.

A strong, healthy pulse is the result of high thinking, of careful living and a clean arrangement of life.

How even and full the pulse is when we are happy and engaged in the things that we desire to do! It seems fairly to bite off the minutes and hand them to us to use to their fullest good.

I do not think it possible for a warm, giving heart to be in any body where the pulse is weak and irregular.

That pulse of yours tells just what kind of heart you have.

BRUSH FIRE CHECKED

Chariton, O., Oct. 20.—A fire that had smoldered nearly a week in underbrush in the southwestern section of Geauga county is under control. Farmers, driven from their homes by the smoke and the menace of the blaze, hustled their families to places of safety and organized to fight the blaze. It was estimated that five square miles of country land were laid bare by the fire.

WILBERFORCE

Word was received Tuesday announcing the death of Mrs. Mary Talbert of Buffalo, N. Y., nationally known club woman and philanthropic worker, who died at her residence Monday after an illness of several weeks. Death was due to leakage of the heart.

Mrs. Talbert was an intimate friend of Miss Hallie Q. Brown and served two terms as President of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored Women, the position now being held by Miss Brown.

Bishop J. H. Jones in charge of the Ohio Annual Conference left Tuesday morning for Chillicothe, to hold the conference. He was accompanied by Rev. P. S. Hill of Trinity A. M. E. Church and Dean George F. Woodson, of Payne Theological Seminary. On Sunday many of the citizens expect to motor to Chillicothe and attend the meetings during the day.

President J. A. Gregg left Tuesday for Lexington, Ky., as the guest of Bishop A. J. Carey and the Central Kentucky Conference. He will return by Chillicothe and visit the Ohio Conference.

Mr. Sherman Hunnicutt, Principal of the High School in Topeka, Kansas, Mrs. Mary Curtis of Ethel, Ohio and Mrs. Cora Dalton of Marietta, Ohio, were called to Wilberforce by the serious illness of Mrs. William Hunnicutt.

Mr. Harry Jefferson reports that his squad of football players are in fine condition to meet the team of Shynums University in Louisville, Ky., on Saturday. The team left Friday morning via the Pennsylvania in a special coach to Cincinnati where they take the L. & N. for Louisville. The team was accompanied by the manager, Mr. Samuel Dickerson.

Mr. Charles Martin, registrar of the C. N. I. department, spent Sunday with his wife and daughter in Richmond, Ind.

Mr. William Anderson, the veteran grocer of the village, now retired, is spending a few weeks with his mother and sister, Mrs. Thomas Campbell in Denver, Colorado.

Due to the crowded condition in the dormitories, Supt. Richard Bundy is having the residence formerly occupied by Mr. William Berry, remodeled and will be the home of the senior girls of the college department until Shorter Hall is finished. Mrs. Roxberry will be in charge.

The members of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. gave a reception to the student body Monday evening in Beacom Gymnasium. The General Faculty stood in the receiving lines, with President and Mrs. J. A. Gregg at the head, while the students marched down the line and were introduced to the instructors. Miss Reba Simpson, president of the Y. W. C. A. introduced Miss Gladys Powell, president of the society, who acted as mistress of ceremonies. President Gregg delivered the welcome address to the new and old students. Supt. Richard Bundy spoke in behalf of the C. N. I. Department.

Mr. Frank C. Bean of the college department talked on the "Idealizing of the Higher Principles of Man," and represented the young men. Dean Gilbert H. Jones of the College department welcomed the students back to school and reminded them of the ideals which the school stood for more than sixty years. The committee in charge served refreshments while the young people spent the evening in playing various games and getting better acquainted with one another.

The Delta Chapter, Kappa Alpha Psi of the school held a big Inspiration Meeting all day Sunday in the Auditorium of Fulton county and Paul W. Burkhardt of Williams county came to blows in the woods near here over which one should take charge of an alleged rum runner. Sheriff Ford won the argument, but swore out a warrant at Archbold, O., charging Burkhardt with assault and battery.

Local chapters and friends motored over from Indianapolis. Cincinnati, Columbus and others from the local branch in Xenia, to take part in the exercises.

Dr. J. H. Ward of Indianapolis delivered an address in the morning, taking as his subject "The Building of a Ship." He applied the construction of a ship to the preparation necessary to the training of the child and the development of the strong and healthy man and woman. At the conclusion of the address Mr. Walter Price of Indianapolis rendered several solos.

At the noon hour the visitors were taken by the members of the Delta Chapter to Arnett Hall where they were served dinner. After dinner,

ECZEMA ON SCALP 4 YEARS In Pimples. Lost Sleep. Cuticura Healed.

"I was troubled with eczema on my scalp for about four years. It first broke out in patches of little red pimples, which later scaled over and itched so badly that I could not sleep at night. My scalp was so sore that I could hardly comb my hair, and my hair kept falling out and looked dead. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. I purchased more, and in two months I was healed." (Signed) Miss Lucille Martin, Rt. 3, Nebo, Ill.

they are 65. There is one big cause for this unfortunate fact. Old men die poor because they could not save money when they were young. The office boy who cannot save on $10.00 a week probably will not save on $5000 a year if he gets it later on.

Even if a man loses all when he reaches middle age, he cannot lose the habit of saving. If this habit is ingrained in his nature, he will start saving again and perhaps get back all he has lost.

It doesn't matter so much how you keep your money working safely. It may be insurance, a saving account, or good securities. The important point is to save something regularly and keep money working, so you won't be among the penniless 85 per cent.

XENIA B. S. NOTES

Miss Bertha Hyman was elected president of the class of 1926 of Central High School at the initial meeting of the sophomores held this week.

The meeting was called to order by William Neeld, last year's president, in the Jean B. Elywell Auditorium of the new building Arnold Boxwell was elected vice president. Miss Maude Wynn Monroe, secretary and George Perrill, treasurer. Miss White, of the faculty was elected class advisor.

Class yells were given when Miss White was brought into the auditorium. She spoke briefly, thanking the class for the honor bestowed in selecting her as advisor, and wishing the organization a successful year. Newly elected officers also spoke briefly.

The colors blue and gold were chosen as the class colors, at a later meeting of the class, and an advisory board was selected to take care of class business.

"No group as important to the country as the great agricultural body can be permitted to remain in need of assistance. I am not ready to say what the solution is. The Department of Agriculture and the administration are working on the problem and some time later will make a suggestion for its solution."—Henry C. Wallace, secretary of agriculture.

"Building construction is maintaining a steady pace in practically all the larger cities of the country. In some sections already large construction programs were augmented during the past month by the letting of new contract and there is every indication that all tradesmen and closely allied mechanics are assured of steady employment for some time to come."—Francis I. Jones, director general of the employment service, department of labor.

"The greatest trouble with the United States today, and the reason the radical leaders can lead the masses, is that feeling is allowed to dominate over thinking correctly. One man feels that the tariff is right; another feels that prohibition is wrong; still another that revolution is the correct way to reduce the high cost of living. Feeling is a lower form of mental energy than thinking. The vital problems of the country must be solved by correct thinking, which Rotary affects to do."—Guy Gundaker, International President of Rotary.

LOCAL FOOTBALL TEAM PRACTICES HARD FOR GAME

The K.A.A. football team of this city will tangle with the St. Paul A. C. eleven of Dayton Sunday afternoon at Washington Park.

The St. Paul team has played but two games this season dropping the opener to the Barney Cadets by a close score but in the second game swamping another Dayton eleven by a large score. The St. Paul team averages about 145 pounds and will be about evenly matched with the locals. A good game is expected.

The K.A.A. bunch has won three games so far this season. The locals beat a Springfield team by 28 to 7 score while they handed the Wilmington Statelets a licking at Reserve Park in their second contest. Last week they played perfect football and swamped the Springfield Meteors by a 28 to 0 score. The locals have been practicing hard during the past week under the direction of Lawrence Beach and Captain Gene Leahy. The K.A.A. gang has developed a fine over head game and Foley, Neville and Heery are goalkeepers. Gene Leahy who plays quarter-back on end runs while his passing of the pigskin is also good. The locals have a good set of ends in Purdom, former Central High Star, Carl Cowan, who played on two of the Championship football teams of Xenia High, Milburn and Cunigan. There is lots of rivalry for positions on the team. Twenty-one men have been out for practice during the past week, one of the largest squads that ever tried for an independent team around Xenia. The local have all kinds of backfield material in Heery, Foley, Davis, E. Leahy, McFadden, Roach, Neville and Rachord. The line will be well taken care of by Purdom, Cowan, Milburn and Cunigan who will perform at the ends. Gordon, Jones, Donovan and Robinette, who take care of the tackle positions. Fudge, Lucas, and Anderson at the guards while the center position will be well taken care of by Frank Leahy who played with the Xenia American Legion last season.

With these kind of gridiron performers in a lineup the barbers are bound to make things interesting for the Gem City outfit. The game will get under way at 2:30 o'clock with W. Leahy in charge. The admission will be 25 cents.

WANTS SOCCER TEAM

W. Roberts, Holden Hotel, Dayton, is interested in the organization of a soccer football team in Xenia. According to Roberts, soccer is growing popular as an autumn sport in Dayton Cincinnati and other cities and inter-city matches are now the rule. Soccer has never reached the popular stage in America, being overshadowed by the rugby type of game, but growth in the game is noticed in recent years. Any one interested in the organization of a team here will find ready assistance by communicating with Roberts at the Holden Hotel, Dayton.

Of Those Who Have Been Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Milwaukee, Wisconsin.—"I had a bad pain in my left side and I could not lift anything heavy without having a backache. I tried different things. Then I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the newspapers and began taking it as the directions said. I feel very good now and can do all my work. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to all my friends, and you can use my testimonial letter."

Buffalo, N. Y.—"I had some female troubles that just run my health down so that I lost my appetite and felt miserable all the time. I could not lift anything heavy, and a little extra work some days would put me in bed. A friend had told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I gained in every way, could eat better and felt stronger. I had found nothing before this that did me so much good."

RACING FANS TURN EYES TOWARD BELMONT PARK WHERE ZEV WILL RACE PAPYRUS

New York, Oct. 20.—The world, as bounded on the north by a racing saddle, on the south by a stirrup and the east and west by the flying equine flank, arose this morning and without further ado cocked a concerned eye upon Belmont Park, where Zev, thoroughbred American, and Papyrus of bally old England, will race this afternoon in the general direction of $100,000 and the honor of two continents.

Overnight, Belmont Park became the American Newmarket, the blending of Epsom Downs, England and Churchill Downs, Ky., the rendezvous for a crowd of possibly 100,000 if the weather is fair and a few thousand less if threatening skies decide to take it out in weeping.

The official forecast was for cloudy and cooler but at an early hour, the sun glanced from the cloud-bank and cast it pale rays over the scene.

Rain or shine however, the track prospects are for fairly heavy going, thanks to an all night rain. This is a condition toward which Sam Hildreth and Basil Jarvis, respective trainers of the American and English horses, have directed their prayer, provided they are praying men at all.

Zev is notorious for his ability to skip through the mud like a water bug. Papyrus also takes kindly to the 'soup' a condition of further beneficence for the act that the English colt is accustomed to the soft spring of turf tracks.

Informal odds this morning made Papyrus an odds-on favorite at 3 to 5, Zev being quoted at 7 to 5 in spite of his known predilection for the mud that is wet and sticky. It is a matter of some doubt, however, whether Belmont Park, famous for its inclination to smile through a heavy rain will retain its mud for the occasion providing the sun stays with the situation.

Zev's price for the great occasion, the first international match race in the history of the turf, represents a contrast in values. Two weeks ago he was a prohibitive favorite adding ranging as high as 5 to 1. Today only the prospect of a muddy track keeps him from assuming the unflattering role of a long shot in a two horse race.

Much has happened in those two weeks however. In the first place Zev, injured in winning the Lawrence realization, has failed to prove to the satisfaction of many that he can carry his speed over the distance of today's race, a mile and a half. In several recent trials, the Sinclair colt seemed to be constrained, not to fly leg heavy.

Moreover, it was only yesterday that Zev was alleged to have broken out in a skin disease and for hours members of the jockey club selection committee ran around in widening circles and rumor was prevalent that My Own, the American alternate, was to be substituted. This possibility was heightened by the hasty summoning of My Own from Laurel, Md.

But the committee after due deliberation announced that Zev was in condition to go on and in his decision it was supported by Hildreth. The latter has maintained from the first that Zev was and is ready to run his race.

Styles BY LENORE

This season the smart traveller will wear plaids and stripes.

There are many capes and cape suits shown—there is a stunning cape of plain and plaid kasha with a deep flaring flounce that is a favorite at Moynex's, the French house whose travel clothes are always so wearable. But while capes are a favorite with French women, Americans seem to prefer the trim two-piece suit or topcoat of plaid, stripes, or some plain soft wool material, which is invariably so smart over the simple one-piece dress of cloth.

A straightline travel suit introduced by Lucien Lelong and sketched above, uses a charming plaid in gray and green, with novel pockets which are an important feature of the model.

Grid-Dust

By
Ray Higgins

Capital University, Columbus, coached by Jerry L. Katherman, former Central High School mentor played its first football game in a quarter of a century Friday afternoon, losing to Rio Grande, 6 to 0, after outplaying the opponents most of the game.

To Katherman, to whom it was given to pilot winners ever since leaving Ohio Northern, the showing of the Lutheran squad to date, has been a disappointment. The game was the first he has lost as a coach since leaving school with the exception of the Ohio Wesleyan-Ohio State game last fall.

Fans, however, say Jerry has set too high a standard for his green and inexperienced squad and they saw in the showing against Rio Grande Friday the makings of future gridiron greatness at the Columbus school.

Katherman complains that none of his athletes ever played football before and that they are learning the game slower than youth of high school age would imbibe it. Yet the showing of the team Friday seems to discount his statement.

Fumbles always peculiar to a new team, kept Capital from beating Rio Grande, as the eleven lost several chances to score by carrying the ball loosely at critical times. A fumble enabled a Rio Grande back to score by scooping up the loose ball and running for a touchdown.

Columbus is with the new team solidly and a little of the coaching Katherman is capable of, should make the Lutheran squad popular in that city. Columbus sport writers declare Friday's game was a moral victory for the Lutherans.

The strength of Coach "Shifty" Bolen's Wilmington College football team was proven Friday at New Concord, when the Quakers held Coach Bill Lange's Muskingum College eleven to a 3 to 0 defeat.

A place kick from the 22-yard line in the first quarter by Quarterback Barton gave Muskingum its only score. The game was played on a soggy field, with both teams showing brilliant offensive and defensive strategy. "Squirt" Firsher starred for Wilmington at quarterback.

"Tad" Randall, former Central High star, played right half during the entire game for Bolen's eleven. The strength of the Wilmington game is shown by the fact that Muskingum defeated Kenyon 24 to 0 and only lost to Western Reserve by a 6 to 0 score.

Wilmington High School continued its march toward the South Central Ohio Football League championship by defeating Chillicothe, its strongest opponent, 20 to 0 Friday afternoon.

STATE MEETING OF KLAN HERE OCT. 27 WILL BE BIG AFFAIR

The Greene County Ku Klux Klan announced Saturday that plans for the state meeting here next Saturday, October 27 are about completed. Present plans of the committees in charge of the affair call for an all-day meeting. The county fairgrounds will probably be the scene of the celebration. There will be an afternoon of music by several bands and speeches by state and national leaders. Refreshment stands will provide food for the vast throng expected.

Marchers in the parade are to leave the fair grounds promptly at eight-thirty, the late hour being selected so as not to detract people from the business houses in the downtown district. Marchers will parade through the principal downtown streets, although the route has not yet been definitely settled. Red fire will mark the line march. Electric crosses and American flags will be displayed on automobiles participating in the parade together with several floats depicting the principles of the organization. It is said that already several bands have signified their intention of being present for the parade. The parade will return to the fairgrounds where the work of naturalization, which is said to be the most spectacular in Klan history will be open to the public.

The night meeting is to include initiation of both men, women and boys, said to be one of the largest classes in southern Ohio, together with speeches and music by bands and glee clubs.

Immediately after the work of initiation, the committee has announced that a mammoth fireworks display will be presented.

The affair is to be public.

BRYAN FARM GIFT IS TOPIC AT MEET

Recommendation by the administrative committee of the Ohio council of churches in session in Columbus, that the executive and legal officers of the state of Ohio be requested to institute court proceedings to determine whether acceptance by the legislature of the John Bryan farm in Green County is constitutional brought another divergence of opinion Tuesday. The Bryan farm was willed to the state to be used as a public preserve, with the provision that no religious services should be conducted on the premises. There were two opinions represented in the assembly Tuesday, one that acceptance by the legislature under such terms was unconstitutional, the other that more harm than good might be accomplished by rejection in event the property passed into the hands of undesirable parties, in view of its proximity to two colleges. Final settlement of the attitude of the assembly on the question was deferred until today.

REALIZATION COMES AT LAST

Chapter LVIII

Joan was sleeping heavily when I went to her room that night, but Laura sat huddled in a chair by the window, crying softly. I switched on the lights and saw the truth of what I suspected. Joan had been drinking again. As I stood looking down at the flushed face of my 17-year-old daughter, I listened to her strident breathing. I felt that God would have been kind had He taken her when an innocent child. How was I to save her, how to combat this habit that was growing upon her. I bent over her and smoothed back the damp hair from her forehead, then kissed her hot, flushed face. With an aching heart, my eyes dimmed with tears, I joined Laura and we wept together. "Where does she get it, Laura?" I asked after we had become calmer. "I really don't know, mother, but some of her friends in town keep her supplied, I think. She was awfully blue tonight, talked so wildly she frightened me. I think something has gone wrong between her and Clem Sanders. I spoke of him and she fairly flew at me." Again I wondered if Joan could have heard his cruel speech that day when he and Madge Dearing talked about her in the summer house, yet it seemed improbable, she couldn't have acted as gay and natural had she. I stayed with Laura until she went to bed, and then I turned out the lights in the house and stationed myself in the guest room. I would watch the water for a time—unable to rid myself of the idea that the boats I so frequently saw held a sinister meaning for me. I had sat there perhaps half an hour and was about to go to bed, having been unable to distinguish any small craft, I gave a last look, and crossing the lawn, keptin gwell in shadow I saw a form, a man. He reached the dock. Another joined him. Now I was all excitement. What did it mean? I settled myself to watch. Suddenly a rocket flared. The two men got into the boat and swiftly rowed away in the direction of the flare. For nearly two hours I watched. It was the darkest span of night, just before dawn, when my straining eyes detected them returning. They rowed up to the dock, then lifted what looked like heavy boxes from the boat. My window was open and I heard a low whistle and almost immediately two more men appeared. Now each two lifted a box between them and bore it away. I dared not leave the window, but was sure they had taken them out back of the garage. I watched until the last box was gone, then I saw the front of the house where I could see the road in two directions. A large motor car stood in the shadow of the two of the men climbed into it, and with scarcely a sound they moved slowly away, while the other two men stood a moment; then they too disappeared in the opposite direction. Paul had deliberately bought the house, built the dock, so that he might safely carry on his nefarious business; and in that house, drunk, with perhaps some of the stuff her own father had sold lay his 17 year old daughter, the beautiful girl who had told me it was "the usual thing for a merchant's family to use his goods."

No longer could I doubt. Paul, my handsome, fastidious husband, was a bootlegger. I bowed my head in shame, in despair. Yet he must be saved, saved from himself, and saved because of his children.

But how? I felt my incompetence as never before, my lack of will to deal with him and so with the situation. The longer I studied over what to do, the farther I was from any decision. If I could make him understand what liquor was doing to Joan, that he made his bootlegging an excuse for gratifying her abnormal appetite, perhaps that might stop him. He loved Joan, I believed, as much as he loved anyone in the world, perhaps more. For mingled with his love was an intense pride in her beauty, the "Norwood beauty", he called it.

If he would only come. Now I felt I understood the visit of the Revenue Agents, that visit that had left me so indignant. In some way they had found out about the liquor being landed at our dock. They might come again—what if they had come that night?

The sun came up as I sat trying to think of some way to make Paul realize what he was doing. I arose from my chair, opened my bed to air, then put on a house dress. The girls must know nothing of my vigil.
